Bowling Green Builds A "Winner"

At Bowling Green State University, the Falcons winning football record speaks for itself. From 1960-1966, the Falcons have compiled a 53-11-1 record and this mark leaves the Bowling Green 11 with the fourth best record in the nation during that seven-year span.

Now, a quick look at the top 10 squads shows that the Falcons have been keeping pretty fast company during that seven-year period. Alabama leads the pack that includes Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana State, Dartmouth, Princeton, Memphis State and Nebraska as well as the Falcons.

In the Mid-American Conference, the Falcons have claimed a 33-8-1 record during the 1960s while winning four championships. Bowling Green has also finished in second place one time while coming home in third twice.

The record has been impressive, the coaches have been winners and the players have been outstanding. The later claim may seem to be a little far fetched but a look at the rosters of the teams in the pro ranks proves this claim.

At the current time, four former Falcons, Bernie Casey, Bob Reynolds, Don Lisbon and Jay Cunningham are well established players in the pro ranks while three players, Mike Weger, Joe Siesel, and Heath Wingate, off last year's squad were trying to land pro positions as this article went to press.

Casey, now with the Los Angeles Rams, is generally considered as one of the finest receivers in the National Football League. In six seasons, he has caught 277 passes for 4008 yards.

Reynolds is a starting offensive tackle with the St. Louis Cardinals while Lisbon is the captain of the Montreal team in the Canadian loop and Cunningham is a defensive back with the Boston squad in the American Football League.

Yes, the last seven years of Bowling Green football have been great but there have been many, many other fine years in the Falcons' long 48-year gridiron history.

BG Battles Miami Redskins

ED COLETTI
Scored Against Kent

"This will be the biggest game of the year for us," Bowling Green State University's football Coach Bob Gibson stated as he looked ahead to today's encounter against Miami.

"We now have the confidence we can beat a good football team so we will be ready for Miami," he continued. Today's battle, scheduled for Bowling Green's Doyt L. Perry Field, is an important contest for both schools.

Miami will move into Bowling Green with a 3-1 record in the Mid-American Conference that leaves the Redskins tied with Western Michigan and Toledo for the loop lead. The Redskins own a 4-2 overall record and they have rolled to three straight victories, all in the conference.

Bowling Green, on the other hand, is now 1-2 in the league after last week's 7-6 win over Kent State and once again today, the Falcons will be fighting for their lives to keep their slim MAC title hopes alive.

For the season, the Falcons will move into the game with a 3-2 record and Bowling Green has now posted a 7-2 mark since pulling off a 17-14 surprise win over the Redskins in 1966.

Veteran Ed Coletti, who performed so well against the Redskins last season as he replaced the injured Stew Williams at fullback and gained 67 yards in 21 carries, has now returned to action with the 1967 Falcons after missing the first four games with a leg injury.

He picked up 21 yards in five carries against Kent State and prompted Gibson to say, "Coletti is ready for more action. He will play someplace this week, I don't know where but he will play."

After the Kent game, Miami's old nemesis P. J. Nyitray won the Falcons "Mr. Back" award for his field generalship against the Golden Flashes. His image is a little tarnished this season but he has still completed 31 of 75 passes for 367 yards.

Last week's other awards went to tackle Chet Boyer as "Mr. Block" while safety man Joe Pearce was named as "Mr. Interception" and tackle Larry Smith won the "Mr. Tackle" award.

The Falcons changed their offensive alignment against Kent as Dave Cranmer started at fullback with Fred Mathews at wingback and Bob Zimpfer at tailback. Bowling Green responded on the ground by picking up 198 yards for the Falcons' best rushing display of the year.

Discussing the Kent game, Gibson said, "I felt we played a pretty good football game. We accomplished just what we wanted to do offensively." That was the second time in three years that Jim Perry's PAT kick spelled the difference against Kent. Bowling Green won both games by 7-6 margins.

BGSU's Falcon Band Blends Individuals

BY TOMI PRICE
Band Secretary

Except for little differences in height and width, Falcon Band members can't be told one from another when appearing in uniform for the halftime show. Actually, though, there is a lot of individuality in the marching band.

In total, there are 64 women and 98 men in the unit. Out of these 162 students, 90 are majors in music. Experience in marching band is, of course, essential for those who plan to conduct bands in public schools. But why do others voluntarily involve themselves?

Some students just plain like marching bands just as others like to work in student government. There's a certain spirit that comes from sweating through drills and giving up Saturdays that can't be found anywhere else. One non-music major remarked that music students are such a closely knit group; for that reason she likes to be on the "band wagon." And then, nothing compares to the satisfaction of knowing that in ten minutes on a Saturday afternoon the week-long routine has produced an effective, entertaining halftime show.

The sound of the Falcon Band is also individual because of the different instrumentation from the concert band. The depth of drums used on the field gives military emphasis to the rhythm section. Besides this, the sousaphones are used as directional instruments to project the concert band tuba sound.

For a similar reason, the altonium replaces the French horn. Not only does the sound become audience directed, but since the altonium carrying position is in front, it is less cumbersome and appears more uniform with the other instruments.

Also, for the marching band, no low reed instruments are used. The resulting blend is stirring but not brusque, not a velvety rich sound, but a majestically rich sound.

The look-alike Falcon Band, which is really a number of individual features brought into just the right balance by the band staff and squad leaders, is aiming itself today at another group of individuals, all the Dads. What better entertainment could be provided but a little bit of girl watching?

Along The Sidelines

BOWLING GREEN'S ATHLETIC PROGRAM RANKS

Doyt L. Perry Field
Football

Last year, Bowling Green State University could only talk about the largest athletic expansion program in the school's history, but now, all the talk has become reality as BGSU as completed its football stadium, ice arena and all-weather track.

While it is now obvious that Bowling Green has some of the finest athletic facilities in the mid-west, it is also true that the university's intercollegiate program must be listed among the finest with a total of 11 sports.

Bowling Green's program gives literally 100s of athletes the chance to participate in sports on the intercollegiate level. In the fall, the Falcons see action in football, cross country and soccer with basketball, swimming and wrestling holding the spotlight during the winter months.

Baseball, tennis, golf, track and lacrosse are all part of a busy spring program.

In the Mid-American Conference, the Falcons have won a total of 20 championships with six apiece coming in football and swimming. Basketball and wrestling have both claimed three while the tennis team and the golfers have both won one.

Soccer and lacrosse, coached by Mickey Cochrane, are the two newest sports to be added to Bowling Green's program as they move into their third season of intercollegiate competition during the 1967-68 year.

Robert H. Whittaker Track
Track and Field

Bowling Green's football stadium, ice arena and track were all completed in 1966 and the stadium and track were promptly named for two of Bowling Green's finest coaches, Doyt L. Perry and Robert H. Whittaker.

In honor of the university's athletic director and most successful football coach, Bowling Green's $2.8 million football stadium was named Perry Field. Located on the eastern edge of the campus, Bowling Green's 23,272-seat stadium is the largest and newest in the Mid-American Conference.

The stadium was first used in 1966, prior to which the Falcons played their home games in the former University Stadium that was located in the center of campus. At the old stadium, Bowling Green enjoyed a record of 84 victories, 29 losses and nine ties in 28 seasons.

At the new stadium, students watch the game from the west side of the field, with seating available for approximately 11,000. Also, on the west side is the press box, which has facilities for 75 members of the working press and includes 10 radio booths plus two television areas.

Four handball courts plus locker rooms and showers along with storage areas have been planned for the west side, while six classrooms are also situated on the west mezzanine floor.

Memorial Hall
Basketball

AMONG THE FINEST IN THE NATION

Dressing rooms are located under the east stands, along with training and equipment areas to handle all of Bowling Green's outdoor sports. The athletic department offices are located on the east mezzanine floor.

Bowling Green's $1.8 million ice arena is termed "the finest facility of its type on a United States college campus." It was opened last February and houses three ice surfaces, including a main sheet 200 by 85 feet used for hockey and recreational skating, a figure skating studio 80 by 40 feet, plus four regulation curling sheets.

In its first year of operation, the ice arena was widely used by the university's students and faculty as well as by the general public. At the present time, the ice arena appears to have almost unlimited recreational possibilities.

The arena has a current seating capacity for nearly 3,500 with possible expansion to 5,000 in the future. It is the home of the Bowling Green hockey team, and will be the site of the 1968 Midwest College Hockey Association championship playoffs early in March.

The Robert H. Whittaker Track, adjacent to Perry Field, is the first of its kind in the midwestern United States. The nine-lane, quarter-mile oval was surfaced with a non-skid, all-weather plastic material called Tartan.

Ice Arena
Hockey

The Whittaker Track, named after the university's former track and football coach, was used during the Mid-American Conference Championships last spring and the facility turned out to be even better than expected.

So, with the addition of the stadium, the ice arena and the all-weather track, Bowling Green has an outstanding athletic complex, which also includes a nine-hole golf course, two baseball diamonds, and 18 tennis courts. All these facilities are located on the eastern part of the campus, beyond Yount Road.

University Natatorium

Now, what can the university's athletic fans expect to see in the future?

"Well, one thing is definite for the future, Bowling Green will add more and more intercollegiate activities including hockey, gymnastics, boating, curling and skiing," Athletic Director Doyt Perry stated.

"I also look forward to the athletic department combining with the health and physical education department to furnish facilities and the leadership so that the entire student body can participate in sports from a recreational standpoint," Perry continued.

Looking to the future as far as facilities are concerned, the athletic department's next big need would seem to be a new natatorium but with or without the new pool, Bowling Green can indeed point with pride to its athletic facilities.

Falcons Point Toward Successful Season

Freshman Coach
Dick Young

Bowling Green State University's freshman football squad got off to a successful start this season as the young Falcons compiled a 2-1 record in their first three outings.

Bowling Green opened with a 20-14 win over Ohio Northern then lost 7-0 to Kent State before putting its offense into high gear and bombing Toledo University's Rockets by a 39-25 margin.

After the first three 1967 games, fullback Jack Hogan is leading the Falcons in the rushing department as he has moved ahead for 164 yards in 47 carries for a 3.5 average. Halfback Jim Meeker has also picked up over 100 yards as he has carried 26 times for 108 yards and a 4.2 average.

In the passing department, Bill Deming and Steve Lewis, a pair of quarterbacks, are about equal. Deming has completed 13 for 183 yards and three touchdowns while Lewis has accounted for 12 completions and 117 yards.

Halfbacks Bob Hanna and Meeker are the leading receivers. Hanna has nailed 11 aerials for 153 yards while Meeker has nine for 85 yards. Deming leads the Falcons in scoring with 14 points as a total of 10 freshmen have broken into the scoring column for Bowling Green.

Last Thursday, the Falcons took on Western Michigan at Doyt L. Perry Field. After taking on the Broncos, the Falcons are scheduled for games at Michigan and Miami before wrapping up the 1967 campaign.

Coach Dick Young is now into his eighth year as Bowling Green's head freshman coach. Before facing Western Michigan, Young's forces had posted a 30-7 record on the football field.

Young joined the coaching staff eight years ago as an assistant football coach. He played football, basketball and baseball under Doyt Perry, the present Falcon athletic director, at Upper Arlington High School. After graduation in 1950, he enrolled at Denison University and was a member of the freshman football and varsity baseball teams.

He transferred to Ohio State the following year and lettered two years as a defensive halfback on the football team and participated in the 1954 Rose Bowl game with the national champion Buckeyes. Young was named to the all-American academic team in 1953 and was the Buckeyes' representative for the Western Conference athlete-scholar award in 1954.

After graduating cum laude from Ohio State in health and physical education in 1954, he continued his graduate work until 1955 when he entered the Navy Air Force for three years as a naval aviator. He saw duty in the states, along with overseas time in Newfoundland. Upon his discharge in 1958, Young returned to Ohio State to finish his graduate work, earning his master's degree in education in 1959.

Young, who is married and has three children, also teaches health and physical education in addition to his coaching duties.

BOWLING GREEN'S DYNAMIC GROWTH CONTINUES

Bowling Green's psychology building, that is now under construction, dramatizes the University's continuing physical and academic growth.

Bowling Green University's prospects for continuing its dynamic physical and academic growth in 1967-68 appear bright.

Impetus for Bowling Green's fast-paced growth is a surging enrollment. Last year's record enrollment of 12,647 is expected to be broken by a fall registration of 13,500 students attending campus and academic center classes.

An unprecedented number of degrees were awarded last year. August commencement exercises brought the total 1967 Bowling Green graduates to nearly 2,000.

Determination to create a campus of academic and physical distinction underlies immediate and long-range University planning. New buildings, departmental reorganization, key administrative appointments and academic expansion are aimed at establishing a climate for maximum student growth.

1,000 students are expected to enroll for the fall term, taking work in 30 masters and four doctoral degree programs. Most recently approved master's programs are in music and economics, to be offered for the first time this fall, along with the newly accredited doctoral program in educational administration.

The College of Business Administration, which recently received American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business accreditation for its master of business administration program, has a new look. Merger of several departments and fragmentation of the department of business administration is part of a move to a more interdisciplinary approach.

Plans to establish a business doctoral program and strengthen ties with other universities to boost faculty and student research are underway.

Broadening services to regional schools and expanding efforts to meet education's special needs will remain priority items for Bowling Green's College of Education.

Other expansion, highlighted by the education doctoral program, is in early childhood education. In connection with Bowling Green's being named regional headquarters for the federal anti-poverty program, Headstart, a variety of projects geared to youngsters of all abilities will be initiated this year.

This summer, the College sponsored 14 special education projects federally financed with approximately $510,000. Dr. Theodore J. Jenson, dean of the College of Education, noted the grant total represents a 25 percent increase in external funding over last year, despite federal cutbacks.

Developing a wider choice of doctoral offerings will continue to keynote College of Liberal Arts goals in coming months. Speech and psychology doctoral programs opened to students in September, and a biology doctorate program is being finalized. Similar programs in chemistry, geology, history, mathematics, and sociology are in the initial planning states, according to Dr. Archie H. Jones, dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

Bowling Green's current emphasis on capital improvements, needed to keep pace with student increases, also will continue to figure prominently in the University outlook.

Since September, 1966, nearly $21 million of facilities, including a nine-story library, life sciences building, stadium and all-weather track, 1400-bed dormitory and ice arena have been completed or are in their final construction phase. At the same time, ground was broken for nearly $10 million in projects to be completed within two years.

Work also has begun on a psychology building, and branch campus to serve Erie, Huron and Ottawa Counties. Completion of the Firelands facility is set for September, 1968.

Current campus construction is part of a multi-million building program which will add 27 new buildings and facilities when completed. A "Master Plan" to insure maximum efficiency in land use is guiding the University's physical growth.

Paralleling the purpose of the "Master Plan" is Bowling Green's development drive to provide the personnel and programs demanded by physical expansion. Since the nation-wide drive, titled "The Mission: Expanding Horizons," was launched in November, it has covered six key Ohio areas in its quest for $2 million by 1968. More than $400,000 has been pledged to "The Mission".

Other 1966-67 innovations expected to gain momentum next year are a system of pass-fail courses for upperclassmen and the year-long study abroad programs for language students.

In 1963, Bowling Green Rocks the Rockets

By Gene Kinn
WFOB Program Director

This is the fourth of a five-part series that will appear in Bowling Green's 1967 football programs.

The mere mention of a Bowling Green-Toledo football game conjures up exciting thoughts for loyal fans of both schools, and the 1963 contest was one of the most exciting and by far the most satisfying for supporters of the orange and brown.

Frank X. Lauterbur was in his first season as head coach of the Rockets. His squad had scored an 18-17 upset over Ohio University the previous week for their first win, against three losses.

We didn't know it then, but Doyt L. Perry was only a season and a half away from closing out one of the most successful coaching careers ever.

The BGers were undefeated, having beaten Detroit, Southern Illinois, Dayton and Western Michigan. They had scored 102 points and given up just 27 to their opponents.

Over 10,000 fans were present in old University Stadium that cloudy Saturday, October 19.

Toledo won the toss and elected to receive. Don Baker returned Jay Cunningham's kickoff to the 29-yard line and the contest was underway.

Toledo moved the ball to their own 46 before punting on fourth and 10. The Falcons couldn't do much better. They pushed the pigskin up to their own 43 where Norm Limpert punted to the Toledo 10.

After a two-yard gain, the Rockets broke the game wide open. Jim Gray, a 165-lb. junior halfback scampered up the middle, moved outside and went all the way for the first six pointer. Gerald Baumgartner's kick was good and Toledo led 7-0.

Toledo added two more touchdowns in the second period on a 51-yard pass play from Dan Simrell to Gray and a quarterback sneak by Simrell from the one-foot line. Baumgartner missed the first PAT attempt, but connected on the second. Bowling Green was down at halftime 20-0.

Whatever Doyt fed the boys in the locker room should replace the breakfast of champions. Any resemblance to their play in the first half was purely coincidental in the second half.

Barry Weaver returned Baumgartner's kickoff to the 50-yard line to open the second half, and the Falcons used just nine plays to reach the end zone. The honors went to Jay Cunningham from three yards out. Jay also added the two points after to make it 20-8.

The Falcons allowed Toledo to handle the ball only three times before Cunningham intercepted a Simrell pass and returned it to the TU 35. Tiny Tony Trent scooted off right tackle and raced to the eight. Two plays later, it was Cunningham again, checking in from the four-yard line. Jerry Ward added the PAT for a 20-15 count.

The Bowling Green defensive unit prevented disaster in the closing minute of the third period. Toledo's Tom Nolan was tackled on the BG one-yard line . . . he fumbled . . . and BG's John Haschak fell on it in the end zone for a touchback.

Toledo took possession again early in the fourth stanza and moved to the Falcon five-yard line where another sparkling defensive play occurred. Bill Violet intercepted another Simrell pass and brought it back to the TU 44.

Bowling Green pounded out 36 yards in 12 plays on the ground, but the drive sputtered at the eight and Toledo again took over. With bone-jarring tackles, the Falcon defense grudgingly gave up five yards, forcing the punt.

Bowling Green advanced to the Toledo 37, but time was running out. Then, with 1:31 remaining in the game, the bomb exploded. Little Jimmy Goings, a sophomore from Toledo Libbey, made a circus catch of a Jerry Ward pass. Juggling the ball, avoiding tacklers and keeping one eye on the boundary marker, Goings made it to the promised land.

It was a natural for the broadcasters. As with one voice, they seemed to shout "It's Goings, Goings, . . . Gone for a touchdown". Ward's PAT was anti-climatic. Bowling Green had taken the lead and the game 22-20.

It was a tremendous come-from-behind victory and truly one of the great games of the past.

Bowling Green University Becomes

HEADING BOWLING GREEN UNIVERSITY'S skating program are professional skaters David and Rita Lowery. They joined Bowling Green's staff last winter.

By Cliff Boutelle
News Service Director

Bowling Green University is fast becoming known in the figure skating world. Some day, perhaps, an Olympic champion may come from Bowling Green.

But for the time being, David and Rita Lowery, who are responsible for the University's budding skating program, are content to introduce as many people as possible to the sport. In only their first year at it, they seem to be doing a good job.

Keeping in mind that less than two years ago about as many people in Bowling Green were interested in figure skating as elephant hunting, consider these facts:

Item: Formation of the Bowling Green Skating Club of about 50 community residents. The Club is now awaiting formal membership acceptance with the United States Figure Skating Association (USFSA), the ruling group of figure skating in this country.

Item: Enough interest shown by youngsters in the Bowling Green area to form a junior division of the Bowling Green Skating Club. Each Saturday about 125 boys and girls show up at the Ice Arena to learn figure skating.

Item: Organization of the Bowling Green University Skating Club, comprised of 50 students and only one of two clubs in Ohio holding an USFSA associate membership.

Item: Figure skating is one of the more popular offerings of the health and physical education department. During the winter months more than 1,000 students are enrolled in ice skating classes.

Item: This summer 150 figure skaters from as far away as Colorado Springs, Palm Beach, Huntsville, Ala., St. Louis, Atlanta, Detroit, and Pittsburgh took part in a 10-week skating school at Bowling Green and because of its success it will become an annual skating school.

There are two good reasons for the skating boom at Bowling Green. The main one, of course, is the Lowery's reputation as skating instructors. They approach figure skating with unbounded enthusiasm whether it be turning out top skaters or teaching beginners. Undoubtedly, the Lowery's whole life revolves around skating and they will continue to attract figure skaters wanting to further their education at Bowling Green.

The other reason is Bowling Green's new $1.8 million ice arena, which has opened up a whole new avenue of ice sports for students and others in the northwest Ohio area. "Few skating programs in the country can match the advantages of the ice arena's three skating sheets, year-round operation and location on a college campus," Mr. Lowery said. Some observers rate the facility as one of the nation's finest.

It doesn't take much to get hooked on figure skating, which may explain the great number of persons who have signed up for ice skating activities.

Most have signed up simply because they like skating and want to learn as much as they can. Others only want to sharpen their skills so they can compete in a few events. A small group have hopes of becoming champions and dream of international competition and the Olympics.

These are the few willing to make great personal sacrifices and put themselves through punishing training schedules, all in the hopes of crashing the big-time.

around other events scheduled in the ice arena. That is why so many of them are on the ice at 6:30 every morning to get in a few hours of practice before classes start. In all, each skater practices daily for 4-5 hours.

The initial goal for all skaters is the gold medal, awarded to those who have progressed through a series of eight difficult tests representing six to seven years of skating. Several of the Lowery's skaters are gold medalists.

The emphasis in their training is on compulsory school figures. Each skater is given a patch, or section, of ice to practice things like figure 8's and left-outside rockers. "About 60 per cent of competitive skating is based on figures and anyone thinking seriously of competition should be well-schooled in this phase," Mrs. Lowery explained.

More Americans than ever before are aware of figure skating, the Lowerys pointed out. They cited increased television coverage of skating events and the fact that an American, Peggy Fleming, is the current world champion, as main reasons for the public's response to figure skating.

The United States Figure Skating Association reports 65,000 registered skaters and the number is growing.

The Lowerys believe the potential to develop champion skaters exists at Bowling Green. "Most skaters reach their peak while college-age but too often become separated from their coach and ice facilities while going to college. Consequently, their skating development comes to a standstill," Mr. Lowery said.

Bowling Green has the advantage of combining the opportunity to go to college with ample coaching and practice time, he explained.

"This combination is one that few universities can match," Mrs. Lowery pointed out. It already has prompted several promising young skaters to enroll at Bowling Green. Mark Beck, an 18-year-old from Palm Beach has a skating scholarship from the United States Figure Skating Association.

For Jim Disbrow, a 19-year-old from Bowling Green, Ky., Bowling Green is "a perfect school for me." "It has a fine department in my major field of study and, of course, this wonderful arena and the Lowerys," he explained.

Two years ago young Disbrow was runner-up in the U. S. Junior Men's Championships and last year was seventh in the U. S. Senior Men's competition.

Another who has enrolled at Bowling Green this year is 19-year-old Ardith Paul of Colorado Springs, Colo. Miss Paul has earned six gold medals and earlier this year placed sixth in the U. S. Senior Ladies Championships.

Bowling Green has attracted the attention of the figure skating world and it could lead to the development of some future Olympic champions. At any rate, recent developments at Bowling Green will definitely boost the growing popularity of figure skating.

DAVID LOWERY WATCHES the skating form of David Neal of Troy, Ohio. Mr. Lowery and his wife, Rita, formerly headed the skating program at Hobart Arena in Troy before coming to Bowling Green.

Miami University Builds Proud Heritage

Miami University, second oldest university west of the Allegheny Mountains, is extremely proud of a rich heritage and strong tradition which have been formed since its founding in 1809, yet Miami is not standing still in the face of the modern challenges of higher education.

To keep pace with the present standards of education, Miami has completed three residence halls, a dining hall, a classroom building and a library, in addition to the renovation of two other buildings, at a total cost of more than $13.5 million. Ten projects currently are under construction at the Oxford campus, along with four projects on Miami branch campuses in Middletown and Hamilton.

Most expensive of the current projects is the construction of John D. Millett Assembly Hall, being built on the north end of the Oxford campus. Planned for a seating capacity for basketball contests of 9,200, the building is being constructed at a cost of more than $7.5 million, with a projected completion date of December, 1968.

The projected basketball capacity all can be seated on permanent chair seats, and total capacity of 11,000 is planned for other large-crowd events such as concerts, convocations and speeches. All athletic department offices will be housed in the new facility as well as the United States Air Force ROTC unit at Miami. The building, largest on the Oxford campus, will cover 3.5 acres.

Close to Miami Field, home of the football Redskins, will be the $5.5 million chemistry building, scheduled for completion in June of 1969. Two residence halls and a Dramatic-Arts-Music building are underway on the south Oxford campus. Each of the dormitories will house 328 students, while a 450-seat auditorium to house the Miami University Theatre and Village Playhouse are included in the dramatic arts building.

A new behavioral sciences building is underway at a cost of more than $1.2 million and an elementary laboratory school is expected to be ready for occupancy by September, 1968. Being paid for entirely out of gifts and contributions by alumni and friends is Murstein Alumni Center with its Climer Guest Wing, expected to cost nearly $700,000.

To service the new classroom buildings, assembly hall and residence halls, the University plans to make nearly $800,000 in alterations to its heating and electrical facilities.

Miami University has come a long way since the construction of its first buildings over a century-and-a-half ago, and from all indications it will continue to keep pace with the growing demands of higher education.

Our Sports Department

A look of bold innovation and the feel of competitive excitement set Chevrolet sport models apart from the pack for '68.

Revolutionary styling.

Looking like a dream car come to life, the '68 Corvette Sting Ray is an astonishingly beautiful new sports car. It's nearly seven inches longer and two inches lower. Startling new features include Hide-A-Way windshield wipers concealed beneath a power-operated cowl panel, rear deck spoiler, high-backed bucket seats and push-type door opening buttons.

Great performers, too.

Quieter and smoother riding this year, Chevelle and Camaro,

"The Hugger," offer new sports car-type performance—better handling, big engines. Camaro SS has a bulging striped hood that covers your choice of either a 350- or 396-cubic-inch V8. Chevelle SS 396 for '68 has completely new styling, a wider tread, shorter wheelbase, and a twin-domed hood.

More engine efficiency.

Standard on many models with automatic transmission is an ingenious carburetor heater that gives you increased efficiency in cold weather. Standard, also, is a new GM exhaust emission control.

New ventilation system.

Astro Ventilation, a brand-new system of bringing in outside air, comes on Corvette, Camaro and the Caprice Coupe, and is available on many other models.

Proved safety features.

All Chevrolet safety features are continued and you get many new ones such as energy-absorbing front seat backs and side marker lights for '68. Be smart. Be sure. Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

SKETCHING THE HOME FOES

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following sketches on Bowling Green State University's five home opponents, Quantico Marines, Western Michigan, Toledo, Miami and Northern Illinois, will provide plenty of interesting background material for Falcon fans.

QUANTICO MARINES—This marks the first meeting between the Quantico Marines and Bowling Green . . . the Marines rolled to a 5-2-2 record in 1966, beating Marshall and tying Toledo . . . since football started at Quantico in 1921, the Marines have posted a 288-104-14 record . . . the Marines ran up six winning years before dropping to 2-6-1 in 1964 . . . former Bowling Green star Jerry Ward quarterbacked the Marines in 1966 but he isn't scheduled to be with them this season . . . Bowling Green's end coach Tom Kisselle played football for Quantico after graduating from BGSU in 1956.

WESTERN MICHIGAN—Western Michigan's Broncos, under the dynamic leadership of head coach Bill Doolittle, are ready for another fine season . . . the 1966 Broncos established a 7-3 overall mark and tied for first place in the Mid-American Conference with a 5-1 record . . . in the past two seasons, Doolittle's teams have a 13-5-1 record . . . he is now moving into his fourth year after being voted as the Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year in 1966 . . . Bowling Green holds a 10-2-1 series lead over the Broncos but Western snapped the Falcons' eight-game winning streak last year with a 16-14 victory . . . Western topped the Falcons in 1954 then had to wait until 1966 for another win . . . Bowling Green has blanked the Broncos three times but has given up 33 points in the last two years.

TOLEDO—Toledo's Rockets clearly moved into the 1967 year looking for revenge . . . fine things were predicted for the Rockets in 1966 but they flopped with a 2-7-1 record . . . this year, basically the same team returns and Coach Frank Lauterbur is pressing hard for a winning year . . . Lauterbur moves into his fifth season as head of the Rockets football fortunes with an 11-27-1 mark . . . the battles between Bowling Green and Toledo have, for the most part, been very close and interesting . . . BGSU holds an 18-10-3 series lead and the Falcons have won 12 straight . . . Toledo hasn't won since 1954 . . . however, in 1965 the score was 21-14 while last year the margin was just 14-13 . . . Toledo hasn't finished on the winning side of the ledger since the 1957 squad came up with a 5-4 record but the 1967 team could well break this string . . . Toledo is Bowling Green's second oldest rival . . . quarterback John Schneider makes the Rockets go.

MIAMI—For the past five years, Miami has been blessed with outstanding quarterbacks with Ernie Kellermann and Bruce Matte handling the job . . . that era has passed for the Redskins and it will be interesting in 1967 to see how Coach Bo Schembechler handles the situation . . . Miami had another outstanding season in 1966 as the Redskins gained a 9-1 record to bring Schembechler's five-year record to 27-10-3 . . . for the past two years, the Redskins have grabbed a share of the title . . . in 1965 they tied with Bowling Green before ending up tied with Western in 1966 . . . in the series between the two schools, Miami holds a 16-6-2 edge . . . however, since 1959, the Falcons have a 4-3-1 mark against the Redskins . . . under coaches Perry and Gibson, Bowling Green has a 4-6-2 record against Miami.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS—This marks the first time that Bowling Green and Northern Illinois have met on the football field . . . however, the two schools have met three times in basketball with the Falcons holding a 2-1 series edge . . . last season, the Huskies had an 8-2 record . . . Kent State defeated the Northern squad by a 26-7 margin . . . this season, the Huskies go against three Mid-American Conference opponents, Kent, Bowling Green and Toledo . . . coach Howard Fletcher has a 67-35-1 record at Northern . . . the Huskies like to put the ball in the air and have had excellent results in this department in the past few years with fellows like George Bork handling the quarterback post . . . this season, Mike Griesman is likely to get the quarterback call . . . in 1966, he completed 141 of 283 passes for 1,899 yards and 18 touchdowns . . . look for the Huskies to throw the ball when they face the Falcons.

Returned to Browns but traded to Philadelphia Eagles where he played one season before going to New York Giants where he was an outstanding end for nine seasons . . . Named to the all-NFL team in 1958 and 1959 and played in Pro-Bowl game the same years . . . Retired from active duty in 1962 . . . Coached defensive ends for Los Angeles Rams two seasons . . . Now in his second year as offensive end coach with Green Bay Packers . . .

Touchdowns and Stew

by MARIAN ROGERS

DO YOU have a "pigskin" pantry?

Thousands of American women have so that everyone in the family can enjoy the football game and still get balanced meals to offset that unbalanced line which may be playing the devil with the team's chances of winning.

The "pigskin" pantry, adaptable to any climate, contains shortcuts for meals before, after or during the game.

If you keep your family well-fed during football mania, you'll avoid getting "fed-up" and still score with Dad, the kids, friends and yourself. Women have taken to football in ever-increasing numbers and quick meals are their salvation.

To keep an eye on the action, plan foods that can be cooked and frozen ahead of time, then simply reheated. Try the "meal-in-a-pot" which cooks untended. Also, ranges with timers and temperature controls can untie your apron strings, freeing you to relax at the stadium or in the den.

If you're game-bound, eat a late breakfast. Then, with a snack during the game, you'll be ready for a bubbling casserole dish with a bean salad, fruit jello, packaged rolls and coffee or tea when you return home.

A life-saver for today's woman whose schedule is as jammed as the lengthening football season is beef stew prepared and frozen a month before the big clash.

Thaw the stew overnight in the refrigerator. Reheat it over a low fire, and serve with frozen peas and carrots. Do not add sour cream to beef stroganoff until after it has been reheated.

Onion-topped green bean casserole makes a wonderful teammate for "scoreboard stroganoff." It can be put together almost as fast as the quarterback can complete a pass to paydirt. Rolls, a fruit cup, assorted cookies and coffee round out this gridiron gourmet specialty.

Thanksgiving Day football games conflict with this patriotic meal. However, housewives can switch from mid-day to an after-game feast. You can use your automated range or bake your turkey at a low, steady temperature, putting it in the oven just before piling in the car for the football field. When you get back to the kitchen, the finishing touches don't take long. Cranberry jelly or sauce and dessert are already prepared. Whip up the gravy and mash the potatoes. Potato buds in a package merely require warmed milk, butter and seasoning.

Thus your Thanksgiving dinner can be on the table in less than a time-out period.

If it's cold, set a roaring fire in the fireplace. Rush out a tray of zippy hot soup drinks to melt the frost in their radiators. How about cream of asparagus soup with crumbled Roquefort cheese and a sprinkling of chives? Put extra "third down" punch in black bean soup with a splash of orange liqueur. Or be generous with gin and lemon juice to bring out the best in a pot of broth.

Companions for the soup chillcures are mixtures of olives, nuts and stuffed French bread slices. Scoop out the soft centers of small-size French loaves early in the day. Fill them with tuna salad, deviled ham and grated cheese or peanut butter and chutney spread.

To "cool" it after a game in 90 degree weather, include cold drinks, fruit plates, and salads, "store-bought" frozen desserts or a summer luncheon menu.

Good thirst quenchers are sunshine fruit punch, club soda iced tea punch and iced coffee. Sunshine punch calls for one cup orange juice, one cup unsweetened pineapple juice, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one-fourth cup maraschino cherry juice, one cup dry ginger ale, two tablespoons of honey and one pint of vanilla ice cream. Mix juices, ginger ale and honey. Add ice cream and stir until blended. Serve topped with maraschino cherries. Makes one and one-half quarts.

The club soda iced tea punch would make the team's water boy throw away his bucket. Steep one and one-fourth pound of tea leaves with one quart of boiling water for five minutes. Next boil together four cups of sugar and four cups of water for five minutes, then add to tea. Pour in one quart of lemon juice and an equal amount of orange juice plus one No. 5 can of pineapple juice. Mix in two quarts of club soda. Makes seven quarts that will slake your family's thirst and leave enough for the entire football team.

Cold cantaloupe can be a winner with scoops of softened cream cheese, crunchiness with pecans. Or maybe coconut banana rolls? They're easy. Dip banana sections in lemon juice and honey, and sprinkle with coconut. Serve with cream cheese softened with fruit juice. Garnish with red, flavored gelatine or jellied cranberry sauce.

The makings of a cold menu treat after the final quarter include cold sliced ham, toasted rolls, hot baked beans, a relish and baked frozen cupcakes. Finish off with coffee. Take canned baked beans, add molasses, brown sugar, catsup, mustard and bacon. Only takes a jiffy and you haven't missed a single play on the TV screen.

With these shortcuts to gridiron cookery with a gourmet touch, don't be surprised if your family chooses you for the All-America team of housewives. Isn't it easy to join in on the football fun?

ATO VICTORY BELL BECOMES FALCON TRADITION

Fifty-eight games is a long streak but this is the exact number of Bowling Green State University football contests Alpha Tau Omega's Victory Bell "Old Alpha" has attended.

Now, this may not seem like much until you look at the records and see where the bell has gone these past five years.

For example, in 1961, the Falcons played in the Mercy Bowl in Los Angeles, California, and the bell was there. The same was true when Bowling Green traveled to Texas in 1962 to play West Texas State and then returned in 1964 and 1965 to play against North Texas State and face West Texas again.

Last year, "Old Alpha" was in Tampa, Florida for the opening game and in Philadelphia, Pa. for the season's final contest against Temple.

"Old Alpha" has been rung by ATO members following every Falcon touchdown and conversion since the opening game of the 1961 season. The bell has had a lot of tolling to do as BG has compiled a 45-11-1 record during this period of time and has scored almost 1,150 points.

Over this period of time, the bell has traveled 24,612 miles. The longest trip was 2,500 miles to the Mercy Bowl in Los Angeles.

The bell is taken to games on a trailer pulled behind a car. Pulling the bell is no small task as it weighs 1,260 pounds. The 1960 ATO pledge class had a special trailer built to support the bell.

Funds for taking "Old Alpha" to all the away games are donated by various sources. For the long trips, most of the necessary funds come from local merchants. This year's bell chairman Gene Farison, estimates that travel costs and repairs will cost the fraternity about $500.

The airways are literally filled with Bowling Green State University football this season with four stations, WFOB, Fostoria and Bowling Green, WMGS, Bowling Green, WAWR-FM, Bowling Green, and WBGU, the university's station, all broadcasting Falcon football.

For the eighth straight year, the veteran broadcasting team of Dugan Fry and Gene Kinn, are handling the play-by-play for WFOB that also originates a five-station radio network, including WTOD, Toledo, WONW, Defiance, WBCO, Bucyrus, and WERT, Van Wert.

Veteran broadcaster Don King, the former sports director of Toledo station WOHO who for eight years was the voice of all University of Toledo football and basketball games, handles the play-by-play for WMGS while Jerry McCullen is in front of the mike for WAWR-FM.

Fry worked at radio station WCLT, Newark, and WTTF, Tiffin, before coming to WFOB eight years ago. He is now the station's sports director. Kinn has been with WFOB for nine years and is currently program director.

King left WOHO to become Public Relations and Advertising Director at Toledo Raceway Park for one and one-half years. After leaving Raceway, King purchased the Toledo Visitor, a publication for the executive and visitor to the Toledo area, and is now editing and managing that publication.

The four stations covering the Falcons have combined to give the fans in northwestern Ohio excellent coverage of Bowling Green State University's 10-game 1967 schedule.

WFOB will be the only one of the four stations carrying all 10 Bowling Green games while WMGS, being a daytime station, will miss the Dayton and California State encounters. WAWR and WBGU will be covering the Falcons during their home games.

BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY'S FALCON CLUB

"Perpetuating Bowling Green Athletic Tradition"

The Falcon Club provides the means for individuals to support Bowling Green State University's athletic program and encourage leadership and competitive qualities in those young men with academic and athletic abilities.

Bowling Green's Falcon Club is now in its fourth year. During its first year of existence, over 120 individuals joined the club. The growth since that time has been most encouraging and now in 1967-68 close to 400 loyal Bowling Green fans claim memberships.

The membership fee is a minimum gift of $25.00 per year. Checks should be made payable to the Bowling Green State University Foundation, Inc. and designated for the Falcon Club.

All gifts provide direct support for the athletic program. In an effort to provide a well rounded athletic program at Bowling Green State University, the Falcon Club program encompasses all varsity sports.

What Are The Objectives

To encourage young men with academic, athletic, and leadership abilities to attend the University.

To assist in bringing these students to the campus.

To contribute to the athletic grant-in-aid program.

To assist in securing summer employment for these student athletes.

To promote Bowling Green's athletic teams and athletes whenever and wherever the opportunity arises.

What Are The Advantages To Members?

Falcon Club members are the backbone of Bowling Green's booster organizations and as such must receive their chief source of satisfaction from seeing the athletic program prosper. However, it is the University's aim to provide members with as many activities and privileges as are practical. The 1967-68 plans include the following:

- Reserved parking for football and basketball games.
- A decal and card signifying membership in the Club.
- Periodic newsletters during the athletic year.
- Copies of the Falcon Fact Books.
- Meet the Team Day—September 13, play nine holes of golf, watch an afternoon practice of the 1967 Falcon Footballers, followed by a picnic and the chance to meet the coaches and players.
- Falcon Club luncheons throughout the athletic year.
- Falcon Club gathering following a selected basketball game.
- A listing of Falcon Club members in a football and basketball program.
- A Falcon Club tie tack for all first year members.
